Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

We just can't get excited about the "Christian Front" and the 17 men who have gone to jail as a result of charges that they intended and had made some preparation to overthrow the United States government. Somehow we feel that these poor wretches belong in an insane asylum and not in a prison. From a practical standpoint, however, it is just possible that these 17 ringleaders with an indeterminate number of followers might have attempted some skullduggery that would have resulted in peace disturbance and possible bloodshed. So, on the whole, we are glad J. Edgar nabbed them in time.

Undoubtedly J. Edgar Hoover merits the praise that the American public gives him for his many achievements in running down the public's enemies, duly numbered. He heads what is, next to Scotland Yard, the most efficient police force in the world. However good his force of detectives is, it cannot be too good in these days of war in Europe and Asia, with battalions of foreign spies infesting this country. A good many of us remember the activities of German spies and sabateurs prior to, and following our entry into the World War. J. Edgar Hoover has brought our Federal police forces to a plane of efficiency that ought to make espionage activities in this country so dangerous as to be impractical.

While we think it highly improbable that the United States will become involved in war, occidental or oriental, for many years, the fact that this country is a source of war supplies for belligerents directs toward us the hostilities of those countries that cannot obtain such supplies. Germany and Russia, cut off from supply sources both on account of lack of real money with which to buy from us, and because the British and French navies, in any event, would prevent their buying supplies here, are passively hostile. Their only means of expressing their hostility and hampering trade with their enemies, is to foment disorders in this country, by organizing subversive bodies such as the "Christian Front," various communist and fascist groups, to carry on a kind of internal guerilla warfare.

The Dies Committee, J. Edgar Hoover, and under Attorney General Frank Murphy, the Department of Justice, has been busily engaged in turning over stones and exposing these vermin. Exposed to the sunlight of public opinion none of them can exist long. To both Bundists and Communists, as has often been observed, the Russian-German alliance was a body blow. Whatever difference there is in ideologies, in practical matters Stalin and Hitler see eye for eye. Prodigious lying about the idealism of either one, or the conditions that obtain among the workers of either Germany or Russia, no longer deceives any but fanatics whose normal activities, anytime, anywhere are seditious.

We shall probably never be entirely free of organizations that act on the body politic in much the same manner as the seven year itch on the human body. It is perhaps necessary to our national health that we suffer a little from subversive and fanatic cults. The Christian Front, the Witnesses of Jehovah, the Ham and Eggers, the vagaries of such politicians as Lieutenant Governor Patterson, Senator Downey, the plague and curse of Harry Bridges, the visionary Upton Sinclair, and other assorted demagogues, are as the fleas that keep good old Towser healthy.

The test comes every two years when state or national elections are held. This is a year of test. We shall know before the end of the year whether we shall suffer another term of intolerable experiments on us, 100 million guinea pigs, costing futile billions, or whether we choose a return to national sanity and American tradition. This year may prove whether we have learned the lesson the New Deal has taught us, or whether we must continue these experiments, lift the national debt skyward and throw away the key to the national treasury.

Andrew Carey left Friday for Alleghany where he resumed work in the mill at the Plumbago mine. He came down about three weeks ago on account of illness but has recovered.

UNEMPLOYED OF NEV. COUNTY GET $13,530 IN DEC.

Representing an increase of $738,801.02 over December 1938, 341,672 unemployed California workers received $3,612,112.94 in unemployment insurance benefits during December 1939. Edward E. Steele, the manager of the Grass Valley office of the Department of Employment, announced today.

According to Steele, this increase in benefit payments is attributable largely to the liberalized benefit structure now in effect.

Out of state claims paid to benefit recipients from other states amounted to $153,931.47, representing but 4.3 per cent of the total, Steele said.

$13.530.46 was paid in unemployment insurance benefits to 1,084 claimants in the Grass Valley area Steele indicated. This compares with 842 insurance checks for $9,907.74 durinf December 1938.

CALANAN GIVES CITY LOT CORNER FOR SAFE TURN

City Clerk George Calanan has donated Nevada City a corner of his lot at his home at the Corner of Coyote and Washington streets. It was rather a bad square turn and made it hard for cars to turn into Washington street. He is now constructing a neat curbing around the corner which will look well and add much to motorists convenience driving to the corner to stop, and then turn into Washington street.

DRUNKEN DRIVER IS ASSESSED $100 FINE

Jack Thompson who is employed at the Plumbago mine at Alleghany was arrested on a drunken driving charge. He pleaded guilty and was fined $100 in City Judge Miles Coughlin's court this morning for driving a machine while intoxicated. Officer Lionel Davies arrested Thompson near the Nevada City high school while enroute to Grass Valley when he found him driving on the wrong side of the road at one o'clock this morning. A man riding with him was also stated to have been drunk and abusive. He was locked up in the city jail and dismissed later after a severe reprimand.

FOREST CHIEF WARNS AGAINST LONE SKIING

The recent tragic accident that claimed the life of Frans Wiessing in the flower of youth is timely emphasis on the importance of observing the cardinal rule of safe skiing: Never go off the "beaten path" alone states DeWitt Nelson, supervisor of the Tahoe national forest at Nevada City. It was on the Big Bend district of the Tahoe forest that Wiessing lost his life and the search which ultimately resulted in discovering his body was conducted by District Ranger John R. Hodgson. Wiessing although an expert skier with considerable skiing experience in both Europe and America and in perfect physical condition, was found at the end of his last trail after having covered nearly a hundred miles in apparently aimless wandering. Even the most experienced skier, Nelson says, is likely to have an accident on the trail that will render him comparatively helpless. In such a time, a companion may mean the difference between life and death. Snow covered country always looks entirely different on the way back, Nelson says, and even when travelling in a group, in new country, it is well to look back frequently and get the topography fixed in mind. A little food should be carried and first aid equipment and above all, matches. If lost, the party should find a spot where they will be most protected from the cold and yet visible from the surrounding country and if possible build a fire that will guide searchers to them.

A glowing tribute was paid by Nelson to Al Beckett of Auburn and his assistants who composed the Red Cross ski patrol operating in the Donner area for the first time this season. These men, Nelson says, devote their week ends to this work without any remuneration whatever and undoubtedly lives are saved through expert first aid given to injured snow sports devotees. Nelson states that probably a dozen more or less injuries were attended on the first skiing Sunday of the season in the Donner area. Tobaggons were still responsible for the majority of accidents and for practically all of the serious ones. Three serious back injuries occurred at the Yuba Gap playground alone within the period of one hour. If someone could devise some method of impressing, upon the young people especially, the serious danger in tobogganing, away from toboggon runs, they would be doing a real service Nelson says. Characteristically youth listens respectfully to advise from more experienced elders and then go blithely on and forget it. All too many times danger is really brought home to them only through a serious accident. There is a thrill in going over bumps but unlike the sleds, the toboggan has no frame work to act as a cushion and the result is a solid landing and very often a fractured vertebra. At other times, in approaching a hazard at high speed, a tobogganer will instictively stick out his foot to change his course and the result is a broken ankle. Nelson's advice is, first, to stick to a toboggan run but if you insist on trees and rocks as hazards, go "belly-buster."

HOBART ESTATE WOULD TRADE LAND FOR TIMBER

S. B. Show, regional forester, with headquarters in San Francisco, is advertising an application of the Hobart Estate company to exchange some of its holdings in Nevada, El Dorado and Placer counties for timber in the United States forests.

CIO ATTORNEY ASKS LENIENCY PAROLE BOARD

Pending before the county board of parole commissioners in an appeal from George Anderson, attorney for the six rioters who were convicted in 1938, for commutation of their sentences. Four of them still have several weeks of their six months sentences to serve. The four are James Vasion, Grant Spear, Pete Zderich and Roy Staton. Anderson stated that Vasion, Spear and Zderich were all employed. Spear is working Idaho.

The attorney stated that it would work a great hardship on his clients to be forced to return to serve the rest of their sentences. Appeals taken by Anderson to state Appellate and State Supreme courts and in turn to the Federal courts up to the United States Supreme Court, which refused to review the findings of the federal district court of appeal, all resulted in sustaining Judge Tuttle. While the appeals were pending the four rioters were out on bail.

Unless the county board of parole commissioners which consists of District Attorney Vernon Stoll, Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen and Chief of Police Garfield Robson, commutes the sentences of the four to time served, in order to exonerate their bail, amounting to several thousands dollars, the four will be obliged to return and complete their sentences.

FIVE THOUSAND ENJOY SUMMIT SNOW SPORTS

Sunday proved to be a splendid day for snow sports enthusiasts and it is estimated there were 3,000 people at the Donner Summit to enjoy skiing and sleigh riding in the Sugar Bowl The Southern Pacific ran three snow ball specials carrying 1400 people. A lunch room in the waiting room of the depot and a lunch counter outside could not provide for the hungry throngs, so the waiters were sent among the crowd to serve them from trays.

The chair lift at the Sugar Bowl is 3,600 feet long and it takes nine minutes to make the trip to the top. A crowd was lined up for 100 yards from the bottom of the lift all day waiting to ride up the lift and go down on their toboggans.

Leland Smith, assistant forest supervisor of the Tahoe national forest, stated cars lined each side of the highway from the Fox Farm near Soda Springs to the summit. It was estimated by Ranger John Hodgson there were fully 5,000 people enjoying the snow.

The snow was four feet deep, packed hard with powdery surface making it ideal for all snow sports.

GEORGE W. STARR SUCCUMBS IN S. F.

Word was received today of the death of George W. Starr in San Francisco yesterday. He suffered a stroke of paralysis last week. He was for many years manager of the Empire Mine and Empire Investment company in Grass Valley. Starr is credited with putting the North Star mine at Grass Valley on a production basis when others were ready to give it up. He has had experience in South African mines and was a friend of John Hays Hammond. He vas deeply interested in civic affairs and was president of the Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce. Starr was looked upon as one of the most colorful mining figures of the world. He retired from mining activities several years ago. When his beautiful home burned near the Bourne mansion which is part of the Empire-North Star grounds about three years ago, he moved with his wife to San Francisco.

George W. Starr spent the major portion of his life in Nevada county and the news of his illness and death brought widespread expression of sorrow. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock in San Francisco tomorrow.

SUPERVISORS DEBATE CONTRATOR'S CLAIM

Discussion of a misunderstanding between the Nevada County Board of Supervisors and N. B. Peterson, contractor of the Veterans Memorial Building at Truckee, was continued today by the supervisors at a special meeting.

Peterson, at a meeting of the board, January 8, claimed that the county owes him additional money for work that he was authorized to do that was not covered by his contract.

At the time of going to press, the board had not come to any decision.

NEV. CITY JOINS MARCH OF DIMES ANNUAL PARADE

Nevada City high school girls have enrolled in the drive for aiding the March of Dimes for the benefit of infantile paralysis victims. They will presently make their canvas of the city.

A Nevada City committee consisting of Dr. Walter Hawkins and Frank Finnegan are in charge of the sale of tickets to the President's ball which takes place next Saturday evening in the Veterans Memorial building in Grass Valley. Tickets per couple are $1.00 each, extra ladies 25c.

A bang up entertainment program will be given from 8 o'clock until 9 p. m. after which dancing will begin, with one of the best orchestras obtainable providing the music. The tickets admit to both events.

These annual benefits for aiding the victims of infantile paralysis, and preventing its spread, have proved one of the most popular contributions to charity ever inaugurated in this country. Millions of dollars have been raised not only for the endowment of the institute at Warm Springs, Georgia, but for the aid of local victims of the dread scourge throughout the country.

ECONOMY BLOC LOOKS INTO GOV. OLSON PROGRAM

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 22.—Economy bloc members of the state legislature will receive the special session program of Gov. Olsn with an open mind, it was predicted today by Senator Jerrold L. Seawell, president pro tem of the state senate. The session starts January 29.

"We will do everything we can to work out a program that will be of real benefit to the people of California," Seawell said. "We have read the governor's preliminary statements with great interest and are eager to get his complete program so we can make a thorough study."

Contrary to the impression said to exist in some quarters, the Republican and Democratic members who constitute the economy bloc have no pre-conceived plan to scuttle the governor's program, Seawell said.

"We were elected by the people, just as was the governor, and our duty is to the people. Therefore, it will be our duty to act favorably upon any suggestion, whether from Gov. Olson or elsewhere, that we find would be for the benefit of California.

"We will, of course, oppose anything proposed during the special session that we find would be detrimental to the people of the whole state. We confidently expect, however, that we will be able to accomplish everything necessary in the way of legislation at this time," he said. "We are not pre-judging anything. The program will be considered entirely on its merits."

Evidence in the controversy over administration of the State Relief Administration, airing asserted communistic influences in that branch of state government, will be carefully considered when presented and this phase particularly, is not being pre-judged, Seawell said.

The governor's program, as released to date, includes additional funds for unemployment relief, removal of liquor control from the state board of equalization, new taxes to meet mounting state costs, old age pension liberalization and state operation of San Francisco harbor in emergencies.

A LETTER FROM SCOOP THURMAN ASSEMBLYMAN

TO THE PEOPLE OF NEVADA COUNTY:

The Governor of California has called a special session of the state legislature which will convene next Monday, January 29. As your representative in the lower house I am appealing to you, the voters of Nevada county through The Nugget, for guidance and any suggestion you may have regarding the matters which are to come before this special session.

Irrespective of what my personal opinions on legislative matters may be, I have always tried to follow the policy of complying with the wishes of the majority of the people I represent. I believe that your representatives in the legislature elected to serve the people of the district they represent and are not sent to Sacramento to play politics. I have tried sincerely to follow that policy and because of that policy I have declined invitations to attend recent political caucuses which have been held for the purpose of discussing pending legislation from a more or less party standpoint. So please believe me when I say that I am trying to serve you, the people, and not any group of politicians.

Representing as I do the largest assembly district in the state, it has been impossible for me to cover the entire district as I would like to cover to and visit with all of the voters.

The majority of the voters I am sure are familiar with the matters which will come before the legislature at the special session. The Governor's program has been widely published in the press of the state and I need not go into detail regarding the various matters.

The problem of old age pensions and relief will no doubt be the most important item on the calendar. Taxation and revenue matters and liquor control will also be important measures to come before us.

I would appreciate the people of this district writing me their opinion on the following points:

Do you want the old age eligibility requirements reduced from 65 to 60 years of age?

Do you want the relief problem to be continued to be administered by a state agency or would you prefer to have the supervision and administration handled by your own county agency?

Do you want the legislature to approve the production for use program as proposed by the governor?

Do you believe that liquor control should be taken out of the hands of the State Board of Equalization and placed in the hands of a new board to be selected by the governor?

Do you favor the proposed revenue and taxation program or do you desire your legislators to continue to be economy minded?

The answers to these five points will greatly aid me in the position I will have to take in approaching governmental economy and the enactment of new revenue laws to obtain additional taxes upon the people of California. I do not expect the people of this district to advise me as to the solution of the problem, but would appreciate a definition of policy as it relates to relief, pensions and additional taxes.

It is my one desire to serve the people of this district in the manner that they deem is for the best interest of all concerned and I can only do this by soliciting their advice and counsel.

You may address me at Sacramento to care of the State Assembly.

Sincerely yours,
ALLEN G. THURMAN,
Assemblyman 6th District.

Democratic Boos for Hatch

(Herewith is reprinted an editorial from the Baltimore (Md.) Sun, for one hundred and five years a Democratic newspaper, commenting upon an incident at the $100-a-plate Jackson Day dinner addressed by the President.)

The Jackson Day dinner in Washington was one of those occasions on which an unexpected incident overshadows the scheduled feature. Mr. Roosevelt's speech was, of course, the scheduled feature. He was in half-humorous, half-philosophical vein. His underlying theme was that motives of public men are all important, but, after elaboration of that theme, he added that information, expereence, and good manners also are important. It was a good enough sort of speech, rather vague, rather abstract, not too profound, not too clever. It left some of the political analysts thinking it was a Presidential valedictory, some thinking it was a Presidential bid for a third term, some thinking it was a Presidential hedge. It might have been any of these. and, therefore, it is not strange that an incident of the dinner overshadows it in importance.

Mr. Essary writes in his report of the dinner that an embarrassment occurred at the beginning of the formal part of the program. Distinguished guests, seated at the head table, were introduced to the great gathering. Among them was Senator Hatch, of New Mexico, who sponsored the law which undertakes to restrict the political activities of officials and employees of the Federal Government. Mr. Essary says that when Senator Hatch was presented: "A veritable storm of boos greeted him as he rose. It continued for what seemed to be minutes. The officeholders restricted in their political activities by the Hatch Act finally were diverted by calling the name of Secretary Hull." In that incident is a subject which deserves far more attention from the thoughtful citizen than speculations about the political significance of a speech which is open to three different interpretations by Washington's analysts.

When Mr. Roosevelt assumed office the Federal Government had 563,487 civil officials and employees. On November 30 last—after Mr. Roosevelt had been in office 6 years and 9 months—the Federal Government had 932,654 civil officials and employees. The increase during Mr. Roosevelt's administration thus far has been 369,167, or a shade less than 66 per cent. Many of the top men whom Mr. Roosevelt has appointed, to old posts and to new posts, were at this dinner in Washington. The charge for the dinner was $100 a plate, and only top men could afford that price. And it was these top men who attempted the humiliation of Senator Hatch because he had undertaken to restrict their political activities. It was these top men who sought publicity to humiliate a Senator because he had practiced Mr. Roosevelt's preachment at this very dinner on the "relative unimportance" of politics "compared with the paramount importance of gavernment."

No sober citizen can ignore this demonstration when considering the third-term issue, which Mr. Roosevelt avoided. The essence of the tradition against the third term lies in fear that the vast powers of the Presidential office will be abused if continued too long in the hands of one man. That was the fear which governer when Jefferson followed the example of Washington and when his lieutenants and successors, Madison and Monroe, followed his example and made the tradition secure for generations. For many years past the serious danger of abuse of the powers of the Presidential office has been in manipulation of the army of officeholders. In our day the danger is the greater because this army is enormously increased and now, under the President, controls billions in subsidies and makes regulations which have the force of laws. And yesterday we saw the top men in this army attempting publicly to humiliate a Senator who would limit their political activities.

The incident was in itself shameful. Mr. Roosevelt, talking later about good manners as one of the valuable elements in public life, might well have made the incident an object lesson. But above all is the revelation that has been given of the quality and temper of the top men in this army of officeholders which Mr. Roosevelt in less than seven years has increased 66 per cent, from 563,487 to 932,654. There, in that revelation of quality and temper, is a shining nugget of fact for the sober citizen to consider when the continued validity of the third term tradition is debated before him. This army of job holders will obey a political commander-in-chief in anything.

CAR HITS BRIDGE RAIL

Mrs. O. C. Jenss, while starting for her home in Willow Valley Saturday evening drove down Broad street at about dusk and not paying much attention she struck the left side curb and iron rail on the bridge at the Plaza ramming the front wheel between the curb and first rail. The tire was ruined and wheel suffered some damage. Her husband was with her in the machine and both received a few scratches when the car hit the curb and rail.

The AAA service truck, Jack Shebley and assistants worked about an hour to get the big car away from the rail.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By BARBARA PHARISS

The weekly assembly was held in the study hall Friday, with Margie Clark, president, presiding. During part of this period a spirited "pep" rally was held in preparation of the game the same night. Bettie Olsen led several yells and Jane Bennett and Margie Keckler led the school songs. Coach Ed Frantz was called on to say a few words about the game, and gave an excellent talk on school spirit, sportsmanship and the game. He introduced the members of each team and several of them said a few words.

Mr. Kjorlie stated that because of the small sale of Quills in previous years, the usual amount of money was not left to the school by those graduating classes. The class of 1940 hopes to have better luck and leave a large gift to the school. They hope to have everyone's cooperation in publishing and selling their annuals.

THIRD DEFEAT

The Nevada City high school Yellowjackets took their third defeat this league season in a couny championship game from the Grass Valley Miners. The varsity team was defeated by 28 to 21 and the B's took a 30 to 12 defeat.

In the A game, Nevada City, took the first points but from then on failed to come up to the Miners. Nevada City has a greatly improved team and really gave the boys from over the hill a tough contest. Childers, acting captain, was the local high point man with eight points. Thomas scored 6; Engstrom 2; Ruth 2; Spracklin 2, and Martin 1. Pease and Mitchell substituted.

The Miner B's held a big lead throughout the game, although the local boys ppt up a good fight. The Nevada team comprised mostly of freshmen, and this is a distadvantage against the powerful Miners. McCarthy, Joyal, Gregory, Leonard, Widauf, Smith and Henwood played for the B's. Joyal and Gregory each scored three points.

The 'Jackets will have an opportunity to regain the title when they meet the Miners at Grass Valley several weeks hence.

D. J. Skelton and wife of Red Bluff are spending a few days in Nevada City visiting their daughter, Mrs. Geary Feagans and granddaughter, Miss Dorothy Feagans.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Fischer of Reno, were recent visitors in their former home city and enjoyed meeting many friends.

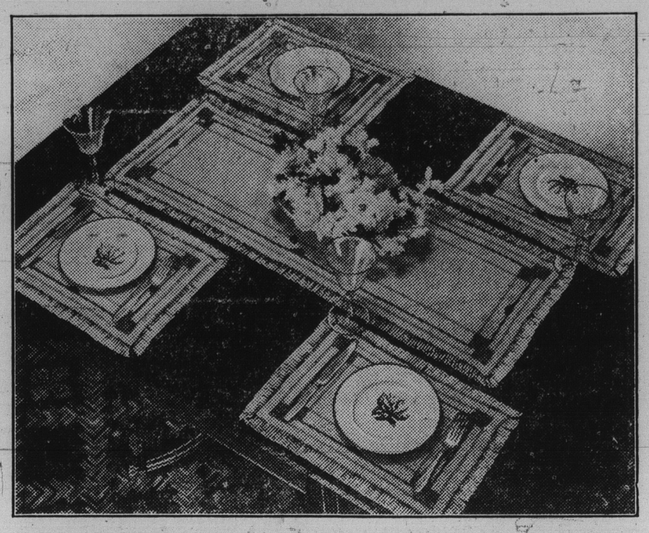
Colorful Luncheon Set May Win Crochet Prize



A LUNCHEON set that has the color of Mexico is crocheted and embroidered in mercerized crochet cotton. It is ever so easy to make—and the three toned embroidery adds the smart peasant touch. Luncheon sets like this will be included in the judging of the Third National Crochet Contest this fall. Directions for crocheting it, and details of The National Crochet Contest may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to The National Crochet Bureau, 522 Fifth Avenue, New York City. Specify luncheon set No. 7108.

NATIONAL DRIVE OPENS FOR MORE FINNISH FUNDS

Activities in behalf of the Finnish Relief Fund now are in full swing in most California counties, according to Ben S. Allen, assistant to Herbert Hoover in the western states. Since the formation of farmer's committees in San Francisc and Los Angeles, early in January, by R. V. Garrod, Chairman for agriculture, county agricultural committees have been set up throughout the state to sponsor benefits of all sorts and to work with other occupational groups.

The Nugget receives contributions to the Finnish Relief Fund in Nevada City.

Sealed, slotted and labeled cans, for collections of funds, now are being supplied to rural groups for placing in stores. These were made possible through the cooperation of California's can manufacturers and label printers. Grocery, drug and department chain stores have volunteered to assist in this form of collection, throughout California.

The Monterey County agricultural committee, one of the first to swing into action, already has announced a series of benefits to be held within the next ten days in seven different towns. Fred G Hart, of Salinas, is county chairman.

From San Luis Obispo county, the Pacific Rural Press received a check for $250. from Chris Twisselmann, prominent wool grower, who wrote as follows:

"I have always been for lending a hand to the honest man—and the man who honorably pays his debts. Certainly, the hard working, peace loving, democratic Finns are all of that. Incidentally, they seem to be pretty fair fighters, too. In view of this, I am mailing you a check for $250, to be forwarded by you to the proper authorities. I shall match this sum later in the spring, if the present rains continue and the price of wool and lamb is what it should be.

"May I close with every wish of success to the California Farmers Finnish Relief Committee, in their efforts to aid a good and worthy people in a good and worthy cause."

The donation of $250 brought contributions received by the Pacific Rural Press to $1,000.

The drive for funds is expected to reach a climax on February 17 and 18, when benefit performances will be held by the motion picture industry throughout the nation. Funds will be solicited in motion picture houses, a special Finnish Relief Fund trailer will be run and part of the theatres' receipts will go to the Fund.

All contributions which are handled through local newspapers and the banks go one hundred cents on the dollar to Finland. The modest expenses of the campaign, Mr. Hoover says are being borne by certain associates and organizations.

CHRISTMAS CLUB FUNDS AT PEAK

Another "all time high" mark has been achieved by Bank of America, this time in Christmas Club enrollments, according to information released today by L. M. Giannini, president of the bank.

The Christmas Club plan calls for regular deposits during the year, repayable in a lump sum with interest at the start of the Christmas shopping season.

"I asked our statewide organization to set their 1940 sights a minimum of ten per cent higher than last year," said Giannini, "and suggested that this be achieved by January 31.

"Our actual goal was 265,000 enrollments. I am gratified to report that this mark, highest in history not only for Bank of America but for any bank, was passed on January 16, two weeks ahead of schedule. It is estimated that by the end of the month the total will have reached 280,000.

"Another remarkable thing," Giannini observed, "is that the total weekly payments into the club is 30 per cent higher than last year, indicating a history making distribution of Christmas checks next December 1. Evidently both the plan and the bank are more than maintaining their popularity throughout California."

PHYSICIANS AID 44,000 MIGRANT SICK IN STATE

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—Medical, surgical and hospital care ordinarily costing in excess of two million dollars have been supplied migrants in the San Joaquin valley for less than half that amount through cooperation of doctors of medicine with the Agricultural Workers' Health and Medical association, under auspices of the Farm Security Administration, it was announced today.

A survey of costs to September 30, 1939, transmitted to the Committee on Public Health Education of the California Medical Association, show that almost 44,000 patients have been treated, and that one in five needed and received hospitalization.

This service, donated by doctors of medicine as their contrbiution to aiding the migrant problem at lowest possible cost, is stated to have vastly improved the group health of the migratory workers and to have relieved a heavy burden on the tax-supported county hospitals.

Home service, office calls, ambulance service, dental care and hospitalization are provided the migratory workers and their families who have been in California less than a year and who are therefore ineligible for state relief. Hospitalization is in private hospitals, at standard rates. The doctors, by low blanket charges, make the savings possible.

By improving the health of migrants during the first year of residence in California, the number needing hospitalization after a year, when they become eligible for state relief and care in county hospitals, is greatly reduced, thus saving the taxpayers considerable amounts.

The service was started early in 1938. Thousands of migratory workers, who never received regular medical attention in their home states, have enthusiastically welcomed this service supported by the Farm Security Administration, but made possible by doctors of medicine. Incipient epidemics have been checked and the health of children, future citizens of California, greatly improved, according to records during the first twenty months of the project.

Edd Addington is quite ill with flu at his home, "The Castle" on Prospect street.

KAY KYSER IN MOVIE DEBUT HERE TUESDAY

Marking the first film appearance of Kay Kyser and his famous band, "That's Right—You're Wrong" co-stars Kay Kyser and Adolphe Menjou at the head of a brilliant cast in what is said to be the novelty screen hit of the season.

"That's Right—You're Wrong" joyously probes the troubles encountered by a film company in trying to produce a band leader picture. The first attempt has Kyser as a romantic Latin type—and by no stretch of the imagination can Kyser be considered a torrid Latin lover!

After several successive attempts to shape a likely story, the scenarists give up. Meanwhile the members of the band go Hollywood in a big way; and the luckless producer, unable to see any other way out of the dilmema, tries to maneuver Kyser into breaking his contract.

The scheme almost succeeds when Kyser is informed of the producer's chicanery by the disgruntled scenarists. He turns the tables on the producer by agreeing with all his ridiculous suggestions, even making complete screen test as the romantic Venetian gondolier of the original story.

The producer's further attempts to sease Kyser out of the contract, and the popular batonists' retaliation in side splitting manner result in a unique climax to this hilarious melodic screen fest.
